MEDICINAL.

Other Worlds.

Our sole knowledge of the people on other worlds and how far the people there differ from our inhabitants, can only be guessed by comparison with animal nature on this small sphere of ours. More important to us is a knowledge of ourselves. "KNOW THYSELF" was an old Greek thought. How to take care of one's own body is not so simple as some think; the human mechanism is a wonderful thing and requires watching.

One man who has done more to teach the American people how to care for their bodies than almost any other man, is Dr. R. W. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the Author of the "Common Sense Medical Adviser." He says: It is not the quantity of the food eaten which produces strength and health (for some people can keep strong on a very meagre diet), but it is how much food is absorbed and assimilated by the blood and carried to nourish every organ of the body. It is, therefore, vitally necessary for the body that the stomach be in a healthy state. If disease of the stomach, or what is called "stomach trouble," prevents proper nutrition then the heart, liver, lungs, and kidneys do not get proper food—they are not fed on rich red blood, and in consequence, begin to show signs of distress. Outwardly these signs may be pimples and eruptions on skin, pale face, sleepless nights, tired languid feelings, or, by reason of the nerves not being fed on pure blood, they become starved, and we receive a warning in the pain we call neuralgia. Rheumatism, too, is a blood disease. After years of practice and study Dr. Pierce found that an Alternative Extract, which he named "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," made from the extracts of several plants, invariably produced a tonic effect upon the system. It helped the process of absorption of the healthy elements in the food and increased the red corpuscles of the blood, as well as eliminated the poisons from the system.

Business is business. No time for headaches. Constipation causes them. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure them by curing the cause. Taxative and mild.

WATCHING FOR METEORS.

There is a great deal of conjecture in astronomical circles whether the meteoric showers which are due about every 33 years, will make their appearance in the heavens this month, as these displays have during the past recent years become very uncertain. The showers, should they be seen, will occur about November 13, when the Leonids may make their appearance, and about November 28, when the Andromedids are scheduled to arrive. The meteoric appearances have taken place about every 33 years with comparative regularity, but in the year 1898 the Leonids failed to make their appearance.

The Leonids and Andromedids are meteors of the same nature, the difference in name being due to the fact that, as far as is known, the radiating point for the one is the constellation Leo, while for the other the constellation Andromeda. The Leonids are generally more prominent than the Andromedids.

When asked as to the probability of the meteors making their appearance this year, Mr. Justice Stahn, secretary of the Astronomical Division of the Maryland Academy of Sciences, said yesterday:

While the shower of Leonids were due in 1898, so far it has disappointed all astronomers, as the feeble displays observed in this country and Europe during the last few years have not been comparable with the brilliant display of about 33 or 34 years ago. While the year before last a number of meteors were observed in England and the United States, and a prominent astronomer, Dr. Isaac Roberts, of England, made a balloon ascension with Miss Klumpe, of the Paris Observatory, and Dr. Bacon, of London, also made a separate ascension, the observations did not amount to much. Dr. Roberts, who has since died, was one of the most widely known photographers of the heavenly bodies. If any showers are observed this month, on the 10th, 11th and 12th, it will be an agreeable surprise to those interested in the phenomena, but it probable that an abundant display will not be seen. It is likely that the meteors are becoming more and more disseminated through space and scattered throughout the orbit, thus making each expected return more meager than the preceding one. This dissemination may be due to the meteors meeting some resistance in space, which I do not think probable. It is decidedly more probable that the stock of meteors is becoming exhausted by falling on the earth, and possibly also exhausting themselves on some other planetary bodies. It is a curious thing that so-called meteors never fall during a shooting star display, from which it is to be concluded that shooting stars, which make their appearance in bodies, are very small particles.

Th Cross Ocean in Motor Boat.

Although M. Charley's offer to give $10,000 to the first motor boat that crosses the ocean has been surrounded by so many conditions that it is almost impossible to win, Lewis Nixon's concern, the Standard Motor Construction Company of Jersey City, has decided to send a gasoline motor boat across the water early next month. It will be the first thing of the kind ever attempted, and the result will be awaited with interest by experts and by the public in general.

According to the present plan, the 90-foot motor boat, which has been building for some time, will be started on the southern route across the Atlantic and will be delivered to its owner in the Mediterranean. The boat will be equipped with two engines, each of 300 horse-power, and will be manned by a crew of eight men, including pilots, chauffeurs and the head-operator, Philip Adams, who showed to such advantage with his racing automobile on the Empire track last Saturday.

It will be remembered that some months ago, M. Charley, one of the many automobile dealers in Paris, offered to give $10,000 to the owner of the first motor boat to cross the Atlantic. There was such a rush to accept that he became frightened and started building fences around the prize.

When Mr. Nixon wrote him a letter, the reply was received that the trip must be made from Havre to New York and that a journey from New York to Havre wouldn't secure the money. Nevertheless, the Standard Company decided to send a motor boat across under its own power to a customer who had ordered it built. Although the boat is not strictly an "automobile boat," as the term is applied to the frail light craft used in this country, its build and construction and its engines are of the same type.

Mothers Praise It.

Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. A certain cure for coughs, croup and whooping cough. A. L. Spafford, postmaster of Chester, Mich., says: "Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. One Minute Cough Cure quickly relieved and cured her and I cannot praise it too highly." One Minute Cough Cure relieves coughs, makes breathing easy, cuts out phlegm, draws out inflammation, and removes every cause of a cough and strain on lungs. Sold by all druggists.

Made Young Again.

"One of Dr. King's New Life Pills each night for two weeks has put me in my 'teens' again," writes D. H. Turner, of Dempsie-town, Pa. "I was the best in the world for Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Purely vegetable. Never gripe. Only 25c at E. S. Leabater & Sons' Drug Store."

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. Arthur Chapman writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that if they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat the baby was sucking it would no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co., druggists.
